

Tamara's Alternative Animal Sanctuary

Five dumped ponies up and down the Fen
We call the authorities again and again
The neighbours in the road are alarmed
The horses loose would cause some harm

They all ambled across the road
Made a lorry shed it's load
The RSPCA said tell the police
They in turn said it's a welfare piece
The factory workers were all amazed
As the horses pooped by their cars unfazed

At last an officer of the law
Came on request as the complaints soared
She said either put them back in the road
Or I'll just turn around
Then the horses can just go to ground

The second option seemed the best idea
Another five horses for us I fear

Ring ring I can't get through Oh well then nothing new Finally I get a line
It's about bloody time

There are 14 horses left to roam
I know the owner, he has no home
The problem is the mare on a chain
She's not near water, she's thin and lame

I'm sure she's got a foal over there
She looks a proper sad old mare
There is no grass for her to eat
And she has dreadful feet

She's on the bank with no shade
The other horses near her are layed
Then there's a stallion who jumps on her back
Please come and see what she lacks

One day later an officer rang me back
They came and saw all the facts
Horses grazing from a far
The chained mare could not be seen from the car

All the horses looked alright
They couldn't see the mare and her plight
From that distance it was no surprise
All it takes is nearness and eyes

Anyway to cut a long story short the owner saw me and gave a retort
I've got you a present, I've got you a foal
It's mother has died, I've put her in a hole

She was the mare that was on a chain
The stallion mounted her, he was a pain
He jumped on her back and broke her neck
The colt's six weeks and in the back

I'm a young travelling man
And with that I took him on the RSPCA did nothing - that's wrong
As now the mare is dead, a dreadful end

Their inactivity drives me round the bend
I've now got a horse for the next thirty years
Thanks RSPCA, well done and cheers!
